

Schemes of Government of India

Government at both Central and State levels encourages participation of the NGO's in developmental and welfare activities. Certain approved programmes are implemented through the NGO's. The Karnataka State Minorities Commission has published books on the beneficiary oriented schemes of the State Government. In addition, there a large number of Central Government schemes and centrally sponsored schemes. It is not possible to give details of all those schemes due to the constraints of this publication. However, a Department wise/Ministry wise list of schemes is given below. But it is clarified that this list is not exhaustive and the present status of the schemes should be verified from the authorities implementing the scheme. The list is furnished with the sole intention of exposing the NGO's to the vast and tremendous scope available to them for pursuing their activities. It is a bird's eye view of the Government schemes.
